WORLD CROKINOLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Karin Jeske Memorial Award

Hans Reinhold of Germany has sponsored the memorial award for the late Karin Jeske for the top female player in the World Crokinole

Championship each year since 2012.

This year he asked Beverly Vaillancourt of Penetanguishene if he should just send the cheque directly to her. Bev won her sixth straight Karin Jeske memorial award in the competitive singles division this year edging out challengers Christina Campbell and Bev's daughter-in-law Jennifer Carstairs. In total there were 11 ladies registered in the competitive singles category to be eligible for the award.

Beverly placed 18th out of 83 competitors, earning 51 points and recording 44 twenties, just missing a spot in the top 16 round robin semi-finals. Christina placed 36th with 44/71 and Jennifer was 38th with 44/47. Bev's husband Roger was 20th and their son, Kyle, was 61st. Close friend Brian Simpson placed 6th overall.

2012 was the first year for the Karin Jeske award and Bev was unable to attend that year. She was serving as a provincial coach for the Special Olympics Bowling Team that won the title that year in Kingston. Her daughter, Kristin Vaillancourt, and Bev's husband Roger attended that year and Kristin won that first award.

The Vaillancourts found out about the tournament through a friend in Ottawa who had attended a cottage show where Mr. Crokinole had a booth.

Since then, they have attended annually and Bev has been the top female player each year. She has amassed all the first place trophies for her mantel. They even missed a family wedding one year just to be at the tournament.

Bev admits her husband, Roger, is a diehard crokinole fan, and the first year she came to Tavistock, "I just came for the ride," she said. She believed there was no way she could compete with the calibre of players, but later managed to earn a second place finish in the recreational division. "I was surprised with that," she added. She is also encouraged to see a lot more women involved in the tournament.
